

CODE OF CONDUCT FOR REDRESSING VIEWERSHIP MALPRACTICES

(Effective 1st April 2020)

Introduction

Broadcast Audience Research Council, India (“BARC”) is an industry body established to design, commission, supervise and own an accurate, reliable and timely television audience measurement rating system (“Ratings”) for India, which can be utilized by Broadcasters, Advertisers, and Advertising and Media agencies (collectively referred to as “Subscribers”). All existing and prospective Subscribers of BARC who subscribed/subscribes to Licensed Data (as defined under the EULA and/or SoW) and ratings are at all times required to adhere to and comply terms and conditions of End Use License Agreement (EULA), Statement of Work (SoW), Code of Conduct(s) and Policies of BARC including its amendments which will be uploaded by BARC on its website from time to time.

Currently BARC is the world’s largest such television viewing measurement system, measuring urban and rural television viewing behaviour.

Objective:

BARC is committed to provide a Rating system that is fair, transparent and free of any influences and malpractices. BARC and its stakeholders, the Indian Broadcasting Foundation (IBF), the Indian Society of Advertisers (ISA), and the Advertising Agencies Association of India (AAAI), have a zero-tolerance policy towards any attempts to influence the integrity of the Ratings.

BARC is required to supervise and maintain a reliable and transparent Rating system, which can be achieved only with the complete cooperation of and adherence to the terms of the EULA, SoW, Code of Conducts and Policies of BARC by the Subscriber.

Panel households form the core of BARC’s Rating system. Panel Households means the persons in selected households within the Republic of India, who are used as the reference audience for BARC’s audio-visual audience measurement services, and whose house will be equipped with one or more ‘Meters’ (BARO Meters or any variant of that, as may be called).

CODE OF CONDUCT FOR REDRESSING VIEWERSHIP MALPRACTICES

(Effective 1st April 2020)

To offer a level playing field to all the Subscribers, and to provide them with fair Ratings, BARC shall on an ongoing basis investigate any abnormal viewership data recorded by the Meters installed by BARC at Panel Households. Further BARC shall make objective and system driven correction of abnormal spikes or falls in any Panel Household(s)'s viewership pattern.

BARC as an industry body is bound to ensure the Secrecy and Privacy of the Panel Homes under the guidelines issued by Ministry of Information and Broadcasting for Television Rating Agencies in India (“MIB Guidelines”). The guidelines mandate that secrecy and privacy of the panel homes must be maintained by BARC and in this context BARC can issue Voluntary Code of Conduct and policies to be followed by all the stakeholders / subscribers /TV channels / parties obtaining services from BARC under EULA.

Hence the objective is to prohibit, discourage, prevent and eliminate malpractices related to and resulting in tampering with the Ratings by influencing /or attempted influence on the Panel Households .
